COURT RECORD.

Trial of Bush and Nawahi for Conspiracy.

Other Term Business.

There was half an hour of general business before the native jury was called at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

J. K. Nakookoo, charged with malicious burning, pleaded not guilty. He was arrested for starting the fire in Kaahumanu street in the early part of martial law.

In the case of seditious libel against E. Norrie, a nolle prosequi was entered. Neumann for defendant.

Frank Gouveia withdrew his appeal from the District Court for larceny third degree.

Harada Matzukami and Ito, charged with malicious injury, on changing their plea of not guilty to guilty, were sentenced to pay a fine of $50 each.

J. E. Bush and Jos. Nawahi were put on trial for conspiracy. W. O. Smith, Attorney General, appeared for the prosecution; J. K. Kaulia, J. M. Poepe and J. M. Kaneakua for the defendants.

Only four jurors were excused in drawing the panel, namely: Achi K. Akan for cause, J. Kanealohe by Mr. Nawahi, J. U. Kawannui by the prosecution and J. Paaniani. The following are the jurors found satisfactory and sworn: H. E. Cook, Hiram Kasha, Jas. L. Holt Jr., J. S. Kawewehi, A. B. Shaw, J. Kapali, William McGurn, H. Kahalewai, C. A. Long, J. W. Akana, H. Kolomoku, Wm. Chung Hoon.

J. H. Van Giesen was the first witness called, he having been the spy who stayed at Bush's house and printing office under cover of helping Bush in his royalist journalism.

The whole case is too familiar to the community to bear retelling. Bush, Nawahi and E. C. Crick were arrested for conspiracy some time before the insurrection of this year.

Van Giesen was on the stand until 3 o'clock.

A. D. McEvoy, another member of the "secret service," was the next witness.

At a few minutes to 4 o'clock the Court adjourned at the request of the Attorney General, who had important business elsewhere.

Emma Defries has filed a suit against the estate of the late Dr. Trousseau, returnable at the August term of the Circuit Court. It is an action on a promissory note, and the note is a curiosity in that species of document. It reads as follows:

"$2937.00.

"HONOLULU, May 5th, 1895.

"Three months after date for value received I promise to pay to the order of Mrs. Emma Defries the sum of Two Thousand Nine Hundred and Thirty-seven Dollars, with interest thereon from date until fully paid at the rate of ten per cent per month interest payable at date expires being of sound mind and memory without my attorney my signature will be sufficient on demand sans ceremony on presentation.

"Value received $3000.00.

"Witness my hand this 5th day of May 1894.

"GEORGE T. TROUSSEAU."

In the margin are the words, "Secured by note of said date herewith," and "Duplicate" is written in the lower left hand corner.

In the matter of the guardianship of Lilia Wahine, or Mele Kumukalani, Judge Whiting confirmed a sale that had been ordered, and approved the accounts. The net proceeds, less costs of court, are to be paid to the clerk for investment, he to pay the income thereof to the guardian for the benefit of the ward. Castle for petitioner.

Fond Mother—Clarence, didn't I ever hear you praying at bedtime for God to keep Willy Wiggle from harm during the night?

Little Clarence—Yep! I wanted him spared so's I could lick he stuff'n out of him today.

A PHAROAH HUMILIATED.

His Mummy Pays Duty as "Dried Fish."

The official Egyptian has apparently no particular respect for the remains of his ancestors, even when these are of royal lineage. Brugsch Bay, who has been assisting M. de Morgan, the Egyptologist, in his explorations, recently discovered a mummy—believed to be one of the Pharaohs—and prepared to transport the prize to Cairo. On reaching the railway station he resolutely declined to confide his precious package to the luggage van. This the officials did not greatly mind, but they compelled the discoverer to take a first-class ticket for Pharaoh as well as one for himself.

On reaching Cairo, there was fresh trouble with the octroi officials. "What have you got there?" Brugsch Bay was asked. "A mummy," was the reply. "Ah, you can't get that through without paying." "But," argued Pharaoh's guardian, "mummies surely don't pay octroi duty?" "Don't they?" replied the official, "we will see what the register says." Here the entire staff consulted the register, but, strangely enough, the article in question had been overlooked by the administration. "Well," said the officer, "we will enter that a dried fish; duty, three piastres!" And so poor Pharaoh was compelled to make his solemn entry into Cairo under the degrading category of dried fish. — Westminster Gazette.

May Be No Good.

Joseph Marsden, Commissioner of Agriculture, in conversation with an INDEPENDENT reporter, said the merits of sacaline, the lately introduced forage plant, would be thoroughly tested at the Government nursery. If the plant did not prove what it had been represented by American seedsmen, care would be taken to have the whole planting destroyed so as to prevent its propagation. He was doing all he could to prevent private importers of the seed from growing the plant before they knew anything about it. Sacaline might become a nuisance like lantana, as Mr. Marsden assented to a suggestion by the reporter. Reports from official sources received at the bureau are not favorable to the plant.

The Proposed Roadway.

There was an examination yesterday by the jury on the proposed roadway from the Oceanic wharf to Brewer's wharf, along the water front. S. C. Allen and M. P. Robinson with their attorney, W. A. Kinney, accompanied the jury; also J. A. Hassinger, chief clerk of the Interior Department, and W. E. Wall of the Government Survey. Mr. Kinney objected to the opening of the roadway on the score of expense, saying the ground was very valuable to Allen & Robinson as a lumber yard, and a road on its frontage would largely destroy its value to them. Besides the yard was open to the public all day as it was; yet the public did not take much advantage of the privilege.

Ship Helen Brewer.

The fine steel ship Helen Brewer, Mahaney master, arrived yesterday morning, 113 days from New York with 3500 tons of freight consigned to C. Brewer & Co. She sighted the Norwegian ship Fortuna from Swansea 34 deg. 56 min. W. long. From 50 in the South Atlantic to 50 S. Pacific was made in 16 days with moderate southeast trades. Crossed the equator in 1 27 W. In 1.26 N. spoke the British ship Loudenhill bound for Astoria. Had fine weather the remainder of the passage.

The Helen Brewer is on her second voyage to the Pacific. She is under the German flag. C. Brewer & Co. and other importing houses receive large stocks of merchandise by the Helen Brewer.

Sewing in School.

Seeing a carpenter's bench and pieces of boards on the back veranda of the Judiciary building, an INDEPENDENT reporter went to the Board of Education office to inquire the cause. Secretary Scott explained that the Board was making boxes for conveying sewing material and implements to schools where the girls were taught needlework. He said that sewing was now taught in many of the country schools.

Chinese Printing.

The only place where Chinese can be printed from type in Honolulu is in Japanese printing offices. Chinese local newspapers are all printed by lithography. As the characters are the same in both written languages, types of the Japanese offices serve for printing Chinese. The Government gets its Chinese printing done by the Japanese newspaper offices.

Glanders.

Dr. Rowat, the well-known veterinarian, killed a valuable horse yesterday, which suffered from glanders. This was the third case of the fatal disease which came under the doctor's notice during this week. He believes, though, that the glanders are only sporadic and do not appear as yet in an epidemic form. A close watch should be kept nevertheless, and the Government officials be on the alert to check any progress of the disease.
